Campaign Managers Say It is Practically Conceded Gadsden Will Get the Next Convention.

The campaign managers for Gadsden announced this morning that it is practically conceded that the vote for the Etowah metropolis entertaining the next convention of the association will be practically unanimous. The delegation is greatly encouraged.

Telegram from Judge Billro.

"W. P. Gwin, Dothan Ala. All Gadsden desires and cordially invites the State Sunday School Convention to meet in Gadsden at its session in 1936. We offer as good homes and as good accommodations with as good people as can be found in the State. Come."

Judge J. A. Billro.

H. T. Davis and W. P. Gwin, campaign managers stated this morning that it is practically conceded that the vote for the next convention will be unanimous for Gadsden. The vote will be taken Friday morning.

We are certainly delighted with Dothan and Dothan hospitality. Your hospitality can't be excelled in the State.

RUNAWAY JUNE FAVORABLY RECEIVED

The first installment of the serial picture Runaway June, by George Randolph Chester, was shown at the Palace last afternoon and night and elicited large audiences. The theme of the story is the misunderstandings and troubles arising over money matters in the home. Not wanting to be dependent upon her husband and, as she terms it, be a leecher for what money she needs to spend the heroine runs away from her husband on their wedding day. The story is not of the blood and thunder variety but is pitched upon a high plane and judging by the reception accorded the first installment will prove highly pleasing to patrons of the palace.

There are fifteen installments of the picture which will run Wednesday's.

BURNS DETECTIVE MAKES APPEAL TO HIGHER COURT

Washington, April 7.—Dan S. Lehon, private detective, today appealed to the supreme court from his conviction for violation of the Atlanta, Ga., ordinance requiring private detectives to be licensed. He contended that the ordinance as enforced not only deprived him of constitutional rights but abridged the constitutional rights of Leo M. Frank, by whose friends he was employed. Lehon was arrested while investigating the conviction of Leo Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan.

Atlanta, Ga., April 7.—Dan S. Lehon, who was manager of the Burns National Detective Agency, here, was convicted in the record, or's court of a violation of an ordinance which requires all private detective agencies to be licensed by the city. Prior to its activities in connection with the Frank case the Burns Agency possessed such a license, but this was revoked by council on recommendation of the board of police commissioners. Lehon was arrested later charged with having continued operating the Burns Agency and it was on this charge that he was convicted. Appeals to the various state courts resulted in the original conviction being sustained. Lehon then appealed to the United States supreme court on constitutional grounds.

AVIATORS CHASE TRAIN AND DAM-AGE STATIONS.

Geneva, Switzerland, April 7.—Two French aviators pursued a German military train yesterday from Marback to Villingen in the Black forest, damaged the railway and stations along the line and dropped bombs on Muelheim and Neubourg.

A French biplane, pursued by German aviators, lost its way in the mist last night and landed near Porrentruy, Switzerland. The two men aboard will be interned.

OVER 1,600 ARE IN ATTENDANCE

Various Sessions of Sunday School Convention Are Being Well Attended.—Good Programs Carried Out.

1611 DELEGATES.

"I am free to say that this is the best convention the Alabama Sunday School Association has ever held."—Leon C. Palmer, General Secretary.

The total enrollment at registration headquarters at noon is 1611, with an estimate that 1100 of these are delegates from other towns. The convention is only half over, and by the time it is finished, it is believed that the attendance will have exceeded the Mobile convention of last year.

Six sessions are being held in the various churches this afternoon.

Over fifteen hundred delegates have registered at headquarters and are attending the sessions of the Alabama Sunday School Convention here, according to announcement made from the platform at the Foster Street Methodist church today.

The weather is ideal and the sessions at the different churches are being well attended, much interest being manifested in the work. Sessions are being held at several of the local churches today.

The reports of the State Sunday School workers were read at the Foster Street Methodist church this morning, and all were encouraging, showing the rapid strides that have been made in Sunday School work in Alabama.

The Adult Bible Class Federation, for men and women, will be held at Selma this fall, the invitation on behalf of Selma having been extended by Sam S. Hobbs. The date for this meeting has not been set.

—Editorial

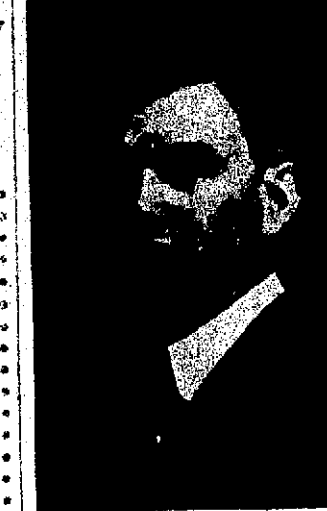

Report of Executive Committee.

1. First Front Line County.—For the first time in our history we are able to report a Front Line County. Mobile reached this standard February 25, with an average Banner School per census of 83. In order to do this, 250 Banner School points were added to the Sunday Schools of the county during the year. Twenty-eight Sunday Schools were graded, 27 Adult Classes were organized, 28 Workers' Meetings established, 30 Teacher Training Classes enrolled, 26 Cradle Rolls organized, the number of Home Departments more than doubled, and the total enrollment of the Sunday Schools increased more than 1,200 over last year—by far the largest year's work ever accomplished.

2. First State Adult Bible Class Convention.—The first annual session of the Alabama Adult Bible Class Convention is being held in connection with this convention. Alabama leads the world in the number of Adult Bible Classes in proportion to (white) population, and is the first state in the United States to hold a State Adult Bible Class Convention.

3. Older Boys' and Older Girls' Conferences.—This is a new feature that has been added to our work, but results are already exceeding our expectations. Birmingham was the first city to take up this work in Alabama and splendid conferences (both for boys and girls) have been held

Older Girls' Conference, enrolling 200 girls from 25 of the 27 Sunday Schools. Sheffield, Florence and Tusculum joined in a Tri-City Older Boys' Conference and Montgomery followed. Our first state Older Boys' Conference was held in Birmingham last October, and Selma has already invited the next session to be held with them in December.

4. Teen Age Specialist Employed.—The work among Teen-age boys and girls has grown so rapidly that it has become necessary to employ a specialist to have entire charge of this work, as State Secondary Division Superintendent. Miss Freda Rose of Mobile has been employed and the results of her work are already manifest.

5. Rural Sunday School Specialist.—The large majority of Alabama Sunday Schools are in rural communities. Their needs are in some respects radically different from the city Sunday Schools, and they demand special help. Miss Minnie Allgood, who has a thorough and practical knowledge of rural conditions, problems and needs, has been employed and is rendering splendid service.

6. Specialized Teacher Training.—Alabama has the largest teacher training enrollment per capita of (white) population of any state. In addition to all existing courses we have this year established four "Specialization Courses" for Superintendents, and for Elementary, Secondary, and Adult Teachers, respectively. In this way any teacher may become a specialist and an expert in his own department. The Birmingham Sunday School Association has done particularly good work in this line. Alabama is the first state to take up this new work. Full particulars are given in the "Alabama Sunday School Handbook."

7. State Library.—A circulating library of about 400 volumes including practically every worthwhile book in print on Sunday School methods, has been established at the State Association headquarters. These books are loaned free of charge to any Sunday School worker of any denomination. The demand is steadily growing and we are greatly in need of funds to enlarge the library. Alabama is said to be the pioneer in this work also.

8. Result Report.—A new County Standard has been established and is explained in this year's "Handbook." This standard requires that each County or District Sunday School Association give direct, definite, concrete help to every individual Sunday School in its territory every year. This will require a more thorough organization and more systematic work than has ever been attempted before. Ala-

POWELL FINED; TAKES APPEAL

Manager Powell of the Palace Theatre was arraigned before Mayor Baker this morning, on a charge of violating one of the city ordinances, and fined $10. One of the exit lights at his theatre was not burning for a certain length of time Monday night, it seems, and charges were made against him by Fire Chief Barber. Mr. Powell said today that he was not aware that the light was not burning. He took an appeal to the Circuit Court.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat Too Much Meat which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have headache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four grams of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then work fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complication.

As we know, head dengue! says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overloading kidneys while it is only trouble.

9. Officers' Training Course.—A special Training Course has been prepared for County and District Presidents, Secondary Superintendents, and Adult Superintendents. By taking this course they can fit themselves for larger and more effective service. Full particulars are given in the "Handbook."

10.—Increased Sunday School Efficiency.—There has been a solid and substantial increase in the average efficiency of Sunday Schools throughout Alabama, in nearly every line. There has been an increase of 12,221 in total enrollment, an increase of 189 in number of Organized Teen-Age classes, an increase of 177 in number of Organized Adult Bible Classes, an increase of 109 in number of Separate Primary Departments, the number of Banner Schools in the State is 72 this year as against 69 last year, and the average number Banner School per census of the State is 41 per cent. Our employed workers have held more meetings than ever before, made more addresses on Sunday School work, and reached 529 more Sunday Schools than last year. Best of all, we have had 7,585 additions to the church from the Sunday School—the largest year's total we have ever had.

WAR SHIPS AGAIN BOMBARD FORTS OF DARDANELLES

Constantinople, April 7.—An official statement issued today by the Turkish War Office says: "No serious attack was made yesterday by the enemy on the Dardanelles. The day before, two hostile cruisers bombarded our batteries at the entrance to the Straits, but without result. One of the enemy's cruisers and one torpedo boat were struck by our shells.

"On the Caucasian front, the enemy attacked our advance guards north of Ishkan, but was repulsed across the frontier. After eighteen hours of hard fighting, we occupied the enemy's villages near Rimmer and Parek, south of Tsozakert."

Washington, April 7.—The annual meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Church Conference for New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, was begun here today with more than 400 delegates present. Sessions will continue seven days.

Election of officers was the chief business on today's program. Secretary Brynn is expected to address the conference on Thursday night.

COURT REFUSES LACY A REHEARING

Montgomery, Ala., April 7.—Then Lacy, former chief clerk of the state convict department, now serving a ten year sentence in the penitentiary for embezzlement of state funds, yesterday afternoon was denied an application for a rehearing of his case by the court of appeals.

Lacy's case was decided by the court of appeals about three months ago, and his attorneys at once filed an application for a rehearing. It is probable now that the case will be taken to the supreme court on a writ of certiorari.

SUMMARY OF WAR STATUS

Another attempt to force the Dardanelles apparently is under way. Constantinople says officially a cruiser and a torpedo boat were struck by shells during an effective bombardment of the outer forts Monday. No serious attack was made yesterday, says the announcement.

The Turkish War Office also reports resumption of hostilities in the Caucasian campaign. A Russian force which advanced on the Turks near the frontier was driven back, it says, and the Turks occupied several Russian towns.

The Rome Correspondent of a Paris newspaper says Italy and Serbia are about to conclude an agreement under which Italy will not object to Serbia's acquisition of territory on the Adriatic, provided it is not fortified. If this agreement is concluded, the correspondent says, Italy's participation in the war may be considered imminent. German newspapers make few comments on the American note to Great Britain and France concerning the Allies' plan for ending off German troops but are

ALL MONTGOMERY NEEDS NEW GOVERNMENT

Montgomery, Ala., April 7.—Col. C. J. Hubbard, assistant general, and Captain L. P. Screws, U. S. A., leave today for Washington where they will confer with officials of the war department relative to securing a federal appropriation for military purposes in Alabama (during the past year).

Last year the state received from the federal government the neighborhood of $500,000 which was spent for rifle ranges, maneuver camps, training and for other military purposes. For some reason, however, the national government cut off appropriation for this year, and the state military department that no funds would be allotted to the state for this year. Lack of care of army equipment and property, together with loose system of management, said to have been the cause of the government's action.

Colonel Hubbard and Captain Screws will endeavor to have Alabama reinstated and hope to be successful in their efforts. The state is largely dependent upon the federal government for the expense of maintaining the national guard without that aid the state's military department would be greatly crippled, considering that the legislature has not met the appropriation for the past year. The government has spent twice as much as the state on national guard equipment, property, maneuvers camps and other things, and the state's military department will be greatly handicapped without it.

Colonel Hubbard and Captain Screws will remain in Washington several days, returning to Alabama by the first of next week.

BIRD MUSIC TROUBLES.

From the Indianapolis News.

The relation between bird music and the music of people has been demonstrated, but the exact nature of the relation has not been made clear. Much, it would seem, depends upon whether we get our music from the birds or they get theirs from us. The weight of opinion seems to be that they get theirs from us, a natural conclusion for us to make, but one which might involve the birds in all sorts of difficulties.

There is no reason at all why a bird should not pick up, now and then, a catchy little popular air and transmute it to suit his own use, and if he has the patience to learn part of an opera or if he prefers an aria in Italian to one of his own make, it makes things all the more enjoyable for him and for us and for everybody concerned. The question is, however, how is the bird going to know what kind of music to choose and more important still, what kind is he going to choose? The difficulty will begin next summer when the doors and windows are open, and when from every house, or at least, every decent house, in the block, there come strains and strains, any number of strains, of music. There will be music of every sort, the melodious violin will waver about the band and there will be the noise of many voices singing or trying to sing, everything from "Tennie, Bemie, Weenie" to the "Mignon." And there and beyond and through and behind and in front of all will be the insistent jangle of the piano.

What is a poor bird going to do? If he is a bird without a head of his own, just like some of the people who only want to do what everybody else does, he will let the music he does not have and his voice, too, trying to sing everything he hears. If he is a bird with a mind of his own and a decided taste in music, he will be no better off. He may have been up his residence in the pine trees, where he is compelled to listen to "My Orchard is a Peach like You," and the sort of music until he can get it out of his head, and then possibly get any other kind of music, although he hears faintly and sweetly a harmonious performance of Schubert's "Serenade." From a few doors down the street, on the other hand, his ears may be very much bored by the two quiet melodies and he may want to learn to sing after the manner of an Italian band. Of course, this would necessitate moving to a place where the wrong kind of music is not all the different from the right kind. Now particular kind or stick to it after it is selected? There is danger of things coming to such a pass that we shall no longer say, "that sounds like an oriole," but will have to say, "that sounds like Castoria," and, of course, that might mean any kind of bird.

BIRDS.

According to the Biological Survey of the United States the birds known as the natural enemies of the cotton boll weevil are the orioles, swallows and night hawks. There are so many different birds that eat boll weevils that they should not be killed, but special protection given them. The English sparrows so far have proved of little value.

But the bullfinch, the orioles, and the swallows, of all varieties, and the martins are the farmer's friends. They seemed designed by nature to capture insects in the air. Night hawks and martins capture boll weevils when flying over the fields. Blackbirds and the lark family catch them on the ground, wrens hunt them under bark and rubbish, while orioles hunt for them on the cotton bolls.

The policy of not protecting birds for the past fifty years has allowed a destruction of these friends of agriculture. Martins not only hunt boll weevils, but destroy mosquitoes. Every possible means should be resorted to that will induce martins to abide with us. They will make their homes in boxes or gourds.

Years ago one could see on the Georgia farms the martin gourds. Boys on the farm used to plant the martin pole with the gourds suspended to protect young chickens. When the chicken hawk approached the martins fly in circles around him, pounce upon him and beat him from the barnyard. It was interesting to witness their battles in the air. Perhaps it was from this the aerial warships caught their ideas.

Martins will dwell in gourds.

suspended from limbs of a tree. They prefer compartments, however, made. Their value in destroying insects and mosquitoes cannot be computed. Why they are not enticed to east their lots on the farms, as was the old case, you, some one may know.

THE INCOME TAX.

By George Fitch.

About this time of the year a low but heart-rending sound can be heard in the haunts of the successful.

It is the sound of men who are weeping as they take a shovel and go down into their money bins to pay their income taxes.

The income tax is the cruellest thing that has been devised since the inquisition. It compels a rich man to wrench 1 and even 2 per cent of his income from his bleeding heart and hand it over to the government each year.

Words cannot describe the agony of this proceeding. When we see a millionaire totter from his limousine, convulsed with sobs, toil sadly into the collector's office to separate himself from $500 or thereabouts we shudder with sympathy. He may only have $500,000 left with which to get through the long, hard winter.

Still this is a kind-hearted country to the rich and successful compared with other lands. If the said millionaire lived in England he would have to pay about $5,000 in time of peace and take in war.

That is the cruellest part of the whole business. Not only does America oppress the rich man, but there is nowhere left for him to go.

Wherever he goes he will get hated still harder.

The world seems to be unanimously against the successful man. This is stranger because it has produced him. There is a lurking suspicion among most successful men that they have produced their wealth by their own noble far-seeing ability. But none of them are willing to go off into some little paradise uninhabited by poor men and cord up their fortunes alone.

This is strange, too, because it would be so easy to be exclusive if there were no common folks around.

The income tax is the reward asked by a government for having made it possible for a man to prosper exceedingly. But there should also be an outgo tax. Up to a certain point men should be taxed 10 per cent on whatever they spend. This would not only net the government a canal boat full of money, but it would take a lot of the carefree joy out of extravagance.

Pig Turned Carnivorous by the War.

From the World's Work.

There was a silence over Lumbertzyde. It affected me, I cannot say it had any effect on Pierre, my Belgian companion, writes Arno Dugosh. He was still chuckling over some German prisoners he had taken, when suddenly he pulled up the horse and jumped out, with an oath, his carbine in hand. I had no idea what was going to happen as I could see no one. The only living thing in sight was a large white hog rooting at the water's edge fifty yards off the road. But this was evidently Pierre's object. I presumed he intended to kill it and take it back for meat, but, examining it a little closer, I could see what it was doing.

The body of a soldier, killed evidently during the night at the first assault on Lumbertzyde, had fallen into the shallow water, where it had not been found and buried. The hog, turned carnivorous, had found it and, with sharp teeth cutting into the soggy clothing and gnawing savagely at it tore at the soldier's flesh. Pierre crept up without being noticed and, at five yards, sent a bullet through its head.

The sharp crack of the carbine,

I feared, would start the Germans in the trenches along the St. Georges road to shooting at us, but they probably saw what Pierre was doing and approved, for we made Nieuport over the deserted road without drawing fire.

This is a War of Money.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

England's navy is doing its best to impoverish Germany's dinner table. French bankers, backed by the French cabinet, are engaged in a campaign to starve the Teuton financially. No German, or Austrian can now sell in Paris or anywhere else in France one dollar's worth of French securities. The amount of money which Austria and Germany have invested in France runs to scores of millions. It would be the natural thing for them to convert these French stocks and bonds into cash with which to fight French armies.

France blocks that enterprise by refusing to allow the transfer of such foreign-owned securities. Without official action England has also made it extremely difficult for Germans to sell British securities in order to raise money. We closed our American stock exchanges for months to prevent all European countries from selling our own stocks and bonds.

So it is a war of money as well as of men. In this respect England and France have a tremendous advantage over their foes. Germany's preparedness at arms was no more complete than French preparedness with money and England's preparedness with battleships.

BURBANK SPINELESS CACTUS

The Stock Food For THE WORLD OF CATTLEMEN Hog and Poultry Growers.

SPINELESS CACTUS PLANTS DO NOT REQUIRE RICH LANDS. IT WILL PRODUCE 100 TONS ALL-THE-YEAR-ROUND Green stock food on ordinary land—It follows, of course, the better the land the greater the annual yield.

No fertilizer is needed, no irrigation is required, time to plant is NOW. Slabs will produce 70 to 100 from each slab in ten months. You don't have to silo or store in shelters, go to the field and cut green feed every day. Analysis of SPINELESS CACTUS shows 60 per cent more food properties than alfalfa.

Will increase butter fat in milk cows.

Old stock will put on new growth. Fed on Spineless Cactus, does not bloat cattle as does alfalfa. Second year will produce 200 tons to acre.

Burbank Spineless Cactus takes root in three to six weeks after planting. Three months and you have returns on your investment. One acre of Spineless will feed as much as twenty acres of alfalfa. On poor soil, so much as 180,000 pounds of Spineless Cactus can be expected to the acre, or ninety tons to acre.

This cut shows the wild spined prickly pear and the famous Burbank Spineless Cactus growing together for three years, it will never mix or grow thorns.

of richest forage.

Spineless Cactus makes a superior quality of beef, exceedingly rich milk, because it is the richest food known in sodium, potash, magnesium and carbohydrates.

Experiments show 16 to 17 per cent increase in milk flow in ten days feeding on Spineless Cactus.

Jacksonville, Florida,

THE WORLD'S STOCK FOOD. SPINELESS CACTUS.

Spineless Cactus has become one of the world's most valuable stock foods.

Furnishing stock with green, succulent and highly nutritious food at all times, but especially when in winter months there is but little if any forage on the range.

Spineless Cactus solves the feeding problem in the South and the great West. The high cost of grazing lands and of pasturing makes the price of meat almost prohibitive to the masses. The only means by which the average man can have meat upon his table so often as he will, is for the stockman and cattle feeders to plant and feed Spineless Cactus.

One acre of genuine Spineless Cactus will care for as much stock as will fifty acres of open range. Eight acres of alfalfa or ten or more acres of common pasture grasses or peavines and fodder.

Luther Burbank, the propagator of Spineless Cactus, says,

"One acre of Burbank Spineless Cactus will feed as many cattle as twenty acres of alfalfa." The reason for this lies in the fact that Spineless Cactus analyzes fifty per cent stronger in flesh making carbohydrates than alfalfa. The protein is lower in alfalfa, but this is an advantage for the Cactus, as it puts on fat, length and makes flesh, meat and bone weight, just what the cattle raiser wants. The Spineless Cactus is planted in rows far enough apart to admit of driving wagons between the rows, so the Spineless Cactus can be gathered every day fresh; fed green with a little rough of any sort, or with bran. Spineless Cactus (genuine spineless) raises the milk flow of dairy herds and increases the butter fat to as much as sixty per cent upon actual test, all other reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

Spineless Cactus will grow on poor land, and will enrich such land. It grows as a perennial (green all the year) up to the regions where ice freezes to the thickness of an inch. It then grows as an annual putting out rapid and heavy slabs all summer. The slabs weigh from three to twelve pounds each in a few months. Spineless Cactus needs no irrigation nor fertilizer and but the slightest cultivation. Any kind of soil will do for Spineless Cactus, but like all plant life, the better the soil the better the yield. Cactus will thrive and produce a heavy crop where other forage crops or hay will not. It improves year by year. The cost of planting is small, as one man can plant 1000 slabs a day. Spineless Cactus can be allowed to grow year after year and will always be green and fresh, and held in the field till needed in a dry time till needed as fertilizing the cattle grower against a drought or lack of feed from any cause. The Spineless Cactus is the in succulent, moist fresh-making quantities as needed at all times in the year. The fruiting Spineless Cactus will bear large fruit in abundance, containing about 12 per cent sugar, and can be eaten like peaches or apples, or made into jellies, jams, syrup, and especially candies. The yield of fruit per acre is from thirty to forty thousand pounds per acre. The slabs from this variety is very fine for hogs as the slabs contain from 4 per cent to 7 per cent sugar and are very tender. Poultry is fond of both the young and the fruiting variety, and thrive on the Spineless Cactus. The analysis of Spineless Cactus and Alfalfa is given here for the information of stockmen:

Spineless Cactus	Alfalfa
Ash	19.91
Protein	6.48
Fiber	10.22
Nitro Free Ext.	61.48
Ether	1.83
	1.49

This analysis is quoted from the speech of E. A. Hayes, Representative from California, in Congress in February, 1912.

Marshall Home Robbed.

Indianapolis, April 7.—The home of Vice President Marshall has been entered by burglars, it became known today. It was not learned whether anything of value was taken.

The vice president and Mrs.

Marshall are visiting in Arizona.

The robbery was discovered by neighbors who found a window had been broken open. No silverware or jewelry was found in the house when police investigated, but neighbors thought such articles had been taken away by the Marshalls.

FOR CASH ONLY

Beginning April 15th, we are going to do business strictly for cash, as we have to pay cash for material, labor and everything we use in our business. By doing business for cash only will reduce our running expenses and enable us to give our customers more for the same money.

Within a few days our shop will be equipped with sufficient modern machinery to do all kinds of mechanical work, and will be handled by the best skilled labor. We beg those that owe us to please settle their accounts at once, and let's do business the easy way—pay cash. We thank everybody for their patronage and beg you to continue. Remember we still guarantee our work.

HALLEY'S GARAGE

HOW TO BE HAPPY.

E. K. Wooley in the K. C. Times. The man of 75 and the man of 35 were talking. The former is a venerable ex-mayor of a large middle west city and he is now enjoying a vigorous old age. The latter has already attained prominence in his profession but was voicing a mood of weariness and depression.

"Son," said the septuagenarian "let me tell you what I've found out in years more than twice the number of yours. I've found that there isn't such an awful lot to this life after all. Considering all our troubles and all our happiness, it simmers down to a few simple things in the end. There's just about one rule to follow: Don't be a renegade.

"Don't join the crowd that's everlastingly kicking at its luck and don't join the bunch that's always kicking the fellow that's down. Don't go back on human kind or the Lord. It doesn't pay. About the best way to get along in this world is to be a good fellow. I mean by that—be a good friend to yourself and the other fellow. Get all the good out of life that you can and sidestep all the bad that you can.

"I'm getting along well in years, but I'm getting the most good out of life that a man of my years can get. I see plenty of men younger than I am getting only misery out of their old age. They've been renegades—that's all. They haven't lived up to the best that's in them nor the best they could find in other folks."

Today I received a letter from another aged man who has recently recovered from an illness which brought him close to death. Yet his spirit is still unweakened. He writes:

"I am past the four-score mark. A friend said to me: 'Don't you hate to be old and close to death?' Here is what I told him: 'I know no more when death will come to me than a man of 20.'

"I am well today. I have done no serious wrong in my life—so I am hale and hearty today, and as I grow old in years my spirit becomes more mellow, my philosophy more optimistic. I feel like an honest laborer nearing the end of an honest day's work, looking to the eventide as a time of rest. I am not afraid. You see old age has no terrors for me, and I wish that other old people might have an experience similar to mine. "My wife and I return to our Kansas home shortly."

The other day I heard of a 92 year old native of northern Missouri who lives alone in his cabin home on the Grand river, and who hunts and fishes and provides for himself in every way. He shows no evidence of dissolution and expects to enjoy many active years to come.

"I've lived a clean outdoor life," he said to me, who marvelled at his health and strength. "I've worked hard all my life, but I never abused nature. I have lived clean in body and spirit. I can endure more now than men half my age. I can go through the hardships of a freezing winter with nothing but water to drink, where a man of 50 who has a daily drink of whisky would freeze to death."

Why dread old age?
—Live right and its terrors will vanish.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill.

I wish every suffering woman would give a trial. I still use Cardui when I feel a little bad, and it always does me good."

Headache, backache, side ache, nervousness, tired, worn-out feelings, etc., are sure signs of womanly trouble. Signs that you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. You cannot make a mistake in trying Cardui for your trouble. It has been helping weak, ailing women for more than fifty years.

In China.

From the Pathfinder.

"Man power" is abundant and cheap in China and little thought is given to conserving it by the use of machinery etc. Human beings are largely beasts of burden there and they carry loads that would stagger inhabitants of other countries. A 12-year old boy with a bulky pack of ten weighing 80 pounds on his shoulders is often seen, his father, walking before him carrying a load weighing 350 pounds. Their average rate of travel with these loads is about two miles per hour. It is not unusual for such loads to be carried 300 or 400 miles over rough, mountainous roads.

The irresistible British marching song, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," has reached China, where it is being taken up by the newspapers and the people. A literal English translation of the song runs as follows:

This road is far from Tip-toe-li-hi,
We must walk for many days.
This road is far from Tip-toe-li-hi,
I want to see my lovely girl,
To meet again Pi-ko-ti-li.
To meet again Lei-sen Kwei-rh.
This road is far from Tip-toe-li-hi,
But my heart is already in that place.

TWO ARE ARRESTED.

Following a raid made on a store in the eastern part of the city yesterday, Gus Stephens and Oscar Dawsey were placed under arrest and locked in the county jail on charges of violating the prohibition laws. About eleven half pints of whiskey were seized in the raid by Deputies Hornsby and Granger.

PARENT TEACHERS' ASS'N.

The Parent Teachers' Association which was postponed last Saturday on account of the State Teachers' Association will be held next Saturday, April 10th, at the Howell Grammar School Building at 8 o'clock.

Prof. M. T. Pullan of the Auburn Polytechnic Institute will be the speaker of the afternoon. His subject will be "The Model Playground." Mr. Pullan has given much time to the study of the playground and its activities and they say that he knows more about it than any one else in the state. Not only the State of Alabama, but other states and countries call upon him for help in planning the equipment for school and public playgrounds and hear him.

UNDERGROUND
Violet said to the delay,
"Something is setting me crazy,
Something is itching me top and
too,
Seeing that the itching will never go!"
"Maybe," the delay in whispers
cried,
"The bonds of your prison have been untied,
And we are starting to grow!"
The croons heard, the colt's foot,
too,
And the blue dreaming its dream
of blue,
And the valley lily and meadow rose,
And the bloodwort ventured,
"My goodness knows,
It's surely contagious, for I can feel
A tingling down to my very heel
From the tip of my very nose!"

child, of course, and the measles and other things he had of course in his life.
He was very delicate and I was out but he would not take it. I decided to try the Gold Dust Twins and he was cured in a few days." — Mrs. Thomas

GOLD DUST —it actually works at hundreds of tasks daily

"Let the Gold Dust Twins do your work" is much more than a popular phrase. It is based on truth, an actuality, for Gold Dust really works.

"Let the
GOLD DUST TWINS
do your work"

The millions of women who use it for dishwashing and scrubbing know this.
But Gold Dust should be used for cleaning and brightening everything.
It is the only washing and cleaning powder needed in any home.
The small quantity required is quickly taken up by hot or cold, hard or soft water—forming a perfect cleaning solution. The valuable antiseptic cleaning agent it contains helps to make things sanitarily clean, as well as bright and new looking.
